

I. Farewell too faire,

Cantus

John Dowland

1. Fare- well too faire, too chaste but too too cru-ell, dis- cre- tion ne- ver

2. Fare- well too deare, and too too much de- sir- ed, Un- less com- pas- sion quench- ed fire with swords: Why has thou made my heart thine an- gers fu- ell, dwelt more neere they heart: Love by ne- glect (though con- stant oft) is ti- red, and now would kill my pas- sions with thy words. This is proud beau- ties

And forc't from blisse un- will- ing- ly to part.

true a- na- ta- my, if that se- cure se- vere in se- cre- sie, fare- well, fare- well.

I. Farewell too faire,
